

Elisete - Inspired by the sun

Elisete seeks to bring light, optimism and joy to all, and the song 'Inspired by the sun' is about healing pain and accepting life by way of light and joy. Elisete takes us in her Brazilian caressing way from the pain and sorrow straight to the sun and Carnaval. She has no illusions about the nature of the world, she simply believes that it can be healed through universal love, music and true joy. The song is electronic, rhythmic, tribal and primal in its resonant drums and it charges the listeners with good energy and joy straight from the heart. It is an optimistic song about the good within us and the good sun that should guide us to healing.

The song 'Inspired by the Sun' has two versions - the radio version that is released first and a remix version to be released as part of the new album. Each version has its own clip.

Elisete feels there is room for a frequency of hope and positivity. That happiness is not a luxury but a basic state to be aspired to and that all of us can be filled with positive energy. We can all get to this place and Elisete's songs are one of the fun ways to get there - anyone who joins Elisete's path will find that life is lit up, happy and fun even in the heart of our local everyday routine and everyone is invited to the party!

'Inspired by the Sun' - both in the radio version and in the remix version as well as the clips accompanying the two versions are the outcome of Elisete's collaboration with a team of talented artists: The two arrangements were made by Raz Burg, the guitars are by Arik Shahr, the video clips were filmed by Elisete's production team and edited by Roby Laville from Italy with whom Elisete had previously broadcast a program in Italian.

Elisete is a versatile and productive artist and works energetically to promote Israel in the world with her charm and the seven languages she speaks. She lectures, is interviewed and performs in Israel and abroad, she is active in the media in the fields of music and the aspiration for peace, she has an internet blog - 'Elisete in the Morning' and she is presenting a program on music on the first social radio.

'Inspired by the Sun' is another single from the new album that will be more electronic than the previous ones and that is joining Elisete's previous remix album and her five acoustic albums.

Inspired by the sun

I am inspired by the sun
And I know peace will come tomorrow
I am inspired by the sea
I know we will have calm

Inspired by the force
I will enter the circle
And I will dance the capoeira
Until I will get tired

And the party will suddenly start in our hearts
And Carnival will blur the pain

I am Inspired by the sun
Everything will be good
I am inspired by the heart
So we will rejoice in the streets

I am inspired by the spirit
we will think more peaceful
We will cure our souls
And melt the pain

And the party will suddenly start in our hearts
And Carnival will blur the pain

Inspired by the light
We will have togetherness
And everybody
Will dance this dance
